

Manufacturing

Restore productivity. Respond to rising costs. Relentlessly drive your business expansion for greater share and into newer markets.

We are a complete, “one-stop shop” consultancy, solutions and services provider that adds real value to your business. With more than 20 years’ experience and over 2,000 large-scale, mission-critical projects under our belt, we offer you innovative and effective solutions.

But more than that, we have a deep understanding of the challenges faced by manufacturing companies in the Asia-Pacific region – and especially here in China. Read on to learn how NCS can be your partner for growth.

Constant Challenges

Whether yours is a foreign or a local enterprise, your paramount need is to drive continuously profitable growth. The challenges you face are diverse. Yet the needs among manufacturing companies are similar: there is a set of fundamental issues that need addressing. We understand that.

- Conquering complex, large application systems
- Connecting different business units and functions
- Raising overall operational visibility
- Relentless cost-reduction activities
- Continuous productivity-improvement programs
- Increasing flexibility and speed-to-market
- Consolidating and outsourcing non-core business processes

Addressing these issues is key to helping you constantly stay focused, stay competitive, and stay ahead in your business.

Resolute Action

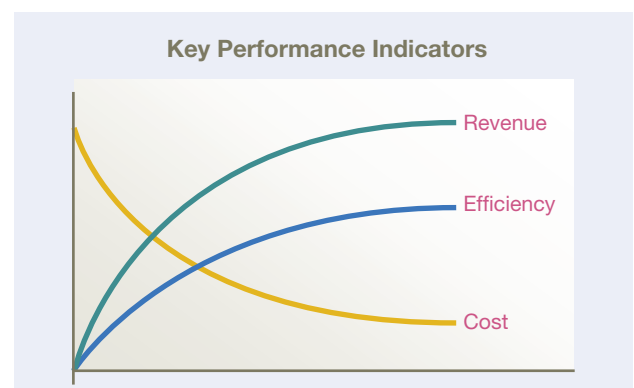

Our holistic approach helps enables you to successfully manage the manifold, parallel business initiatives required to achieve sustainable growth, and grow both the bottom line and the top line. We understand the importance and the power of technology to support your business – we also pay close attention to the people and the processes.

That is why local enterprises select us to help them transform inefficient, outdated, manual processes into well-integrated, streamlined and automated systems. And why we are the partner of choice for multi-national corporations who have set up manufacturing facilities here in China.
